Published by the

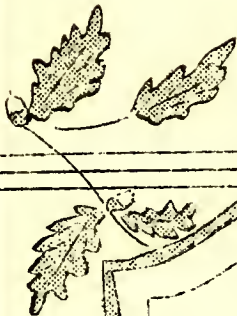

SENIOR CLASS

WENTWORTH HIGH SCHOOL

Wentworth, North Carolina

1941

Dedication

TO

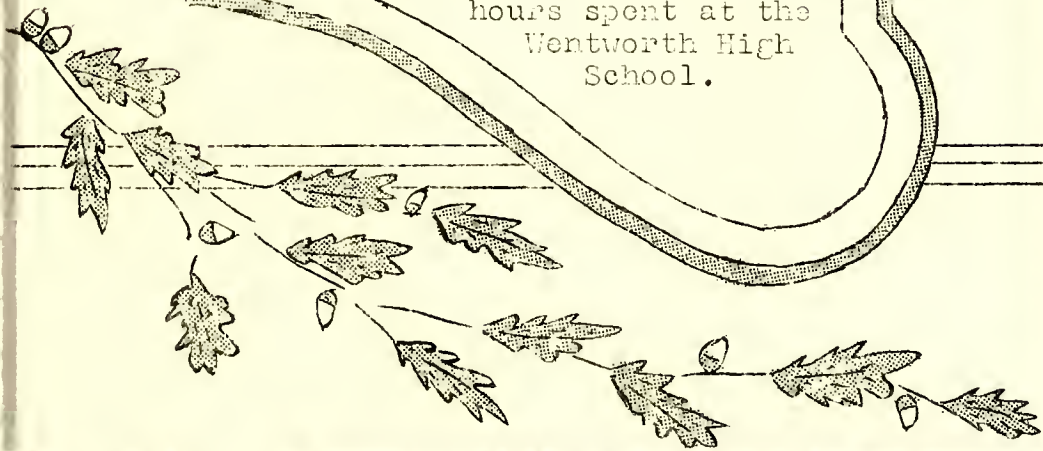

Mrs. Ruth A. Clarke, in grateful appreciation of her inspiring leadership, sympathetic counsel, and valued friendship, this, the 1941 issue of "Golden Leaves", is affectionately dedicated.

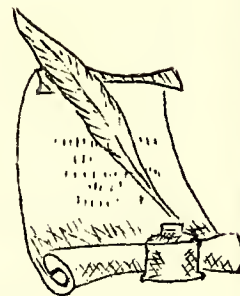

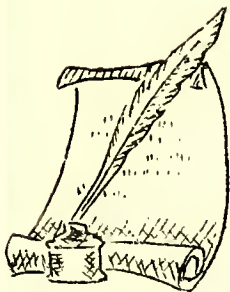

Foreword

The chief motive which has dominated the content and arrangement of this annual is the desire to preserve and perpetuate ideals, achievements, and memories that have become a vital share of our days at Wentworth School. This annual, the "Golden Leaves" is intended to symbolize the golden days of our school life, the golden chain of friendship, that binds teachers and pupils, and the golden memories that fill our hearts as we go out into the walks of life.

Let us not forget the fine lessons of loyalty, service, honor, and truth which have been taught. Let us remember the joys and pleasures and happy hours spent at the Wentworth High School.

Class Poem

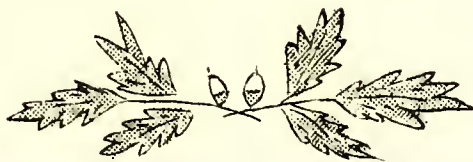

We, the Seniors of Wentworth High
Now stand together on our last school day,
And with a smile we say, "Goodby"
To friends we've met along the way.

And to our teachers dear, we say
"Thanks for all the kindness you've shown
As we came together along the way."
We now meet at the end of our school road.

And now upon this happy day
With hope we look ahead,
Knowing not a definite way,
Nor how our steps are led.

But as we enter into life
We wish success, not sorrow
To repay us for our strife.
To all, we say, "A happy, golden morrow."

- Frances Hunsucker

CLASS HISTORY

Some of the most important items recorded in the diary of the Class of 1941 are here set forth.

Freshman year, 1938: Here we are in the eight grade of high school. The fifty-seven members of our class had as our home room teacher Mr. Meador. Outstanding events of the year was the Father-Son, Mother-Daughter Banquet given by the home economics and agriculture departments.

Sophomore year, 1939: Forty-four students returned to be in the ninth grade this year. Mr. Föil was homeroom teacher for the boys, and Miss Morris for the girls. The subjects with which we struggled were English, algebra, biology, agriculture, and home economics.

We participated in the Mother-Daughter, Father-Son entertainment which was held in the basement, a wiener roast, the Field Day, and a trip to the State Fair.

Junior Year, 1940: Thirty-nine students entered as juniors this year, with Mrs. E. H. Clarke as homeroom teacher. David Durham served as Class President this year. We were permitted to have class meetings in the homes of the members. We took an active part in many of the school clubs and athletics, many holding offices in these organizations.

Spring of 1940--the most outstanding event of the year was the Junior-Senior Banquet given at the Belvedere Hotel in Reidsville. A Dude Ranch theme was carried with much fun.

The junior marshals were Mozelle Southard, Dorothy Lasley, Naomia Webb, Thelma Patterson, and Beatrice Moorefield(chief). The junior play, "Here Comes Hatti", was given with considerate success.

Senior year, 1941. Only twenty-three out of fifty-seven members of our class have survived the four years. We have a new principal, Mr. Allan Lewis, who replaced Mr. Mason Field, and Mrs. Clarke is again our homeroom teacher.

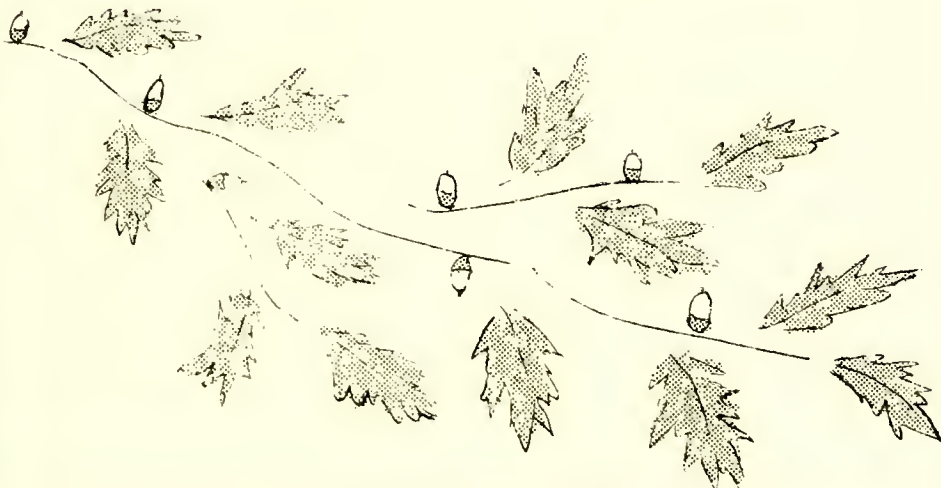

September--All our class motored to Chapel Hill for a football game. It was a grand experience and gave us a chance to be on a big college campus.

The Senior Store was organized with Nathan Duke manager, Dorothy Corum, assistant, and Beatrice

Moorefield, bookkeeper. This was the first time any class had attempted to run the store. The banquet given at the Cavalier Cafeteria in Winston was the social highlight of the year. In April, twelve seniors enjoyed a school-sponsored trip to Washington, D. C. The Senior play, "Spring Fever", was given with Iris Smith, Robert Lamb, Dorothy Lasley, LaVerne Talley, Annie Lea Nance, Rebecca Gunn, Corless Comer, David Durham and Elwood Powell taking part. Several seniors also took part in "Mama's Baby Boy" a play given earlier in the year. The Class Night Program, "Alma Mater's Children", using the Mother Goose theme, was presented. We were fortunate to secure two well-known speakers for our commencement programs, Dr. John B. Winn, for the sermon, and Dr. Henry L. Smith for the address. A party given by several parents of the class was held at Annie Lea Nance's the last Friday night of our school career.

We have published the yearbook "Golden Leaves", with La Verne Talley as editor-in-chief; and many of our members have taken active part in the school newspaper, Rebecca Gunn being editor.

Beatrice Moorefield won the honor of valedictorian and Mozelle Southard that of salutatorian. The officers of this our last and most successful year were David Durham, president, Beatrice Moorefield, vice-president, and La Verne Talley, secretary, and Elwood Powell, treasurer.

Class Prophecy

(In "Alma Mater's Children", the Class Night play, "Mistress Query" answers the questions of each of "Mother Wentworth's Children" concerning the future. The following is a record of her answers):

"David Durham, where are you? You asked me if you were going to be a bachelor. Well, David, the Almanac says that you are going to be an agriculture teacher.

Beatrice Moorefield, you wished to know if you would have a successful career in the future? I find that you have an excellent future in the medical profession. Perhaps you will become a surgeon in some large hospital like the one in Baltimore.

Annie Lea Nance longs to know if she will ever reach the height of her ambition as a private secretary for a good-looking gentleman? Well, Annie Lea, there is a good chance that you will if you ever grow up.

LaVerne Talley, you were inquiring last week if you were always going to be a little country girl. Well, the Almanac says that you are going to be a registered nurse.

Frances Hunsucker, your drawings this year have added much to the attractiveness of both the Journal and our annual, Golden Leaves. You asked me last week if you would ever become an artist. You certainly will, for you have the talent and the inclination that should carry you to success. But beware of a red-headed boy!

Edger Smith, you seemed to be in earnest the other day when you asked me about being a musician. Well, Edger you could be a real crooning cowboy with a melodious guitar playing every night over the radio. But Edger, you must stay awake on the job.

Elwood Powell, you wanted to know if you were going to be a farmer all your life? Elwood, I find that you will be a country doctor helping the sick and the poor which need you most.

Dorothy Corum you told me you were tired of washing dishes and wish to know if you would ever get rid of the job. Well, the Almanac says that you will become a business lady and have maids to do the dish-washing, but we wonder!

Mozelle, you asked me if you were going to college or to be an old maid. I find neither; you will be a trained nurse working hard trying to mend broken bodies.

Dorothy Lasley, you wanted to know if you would be a secretary. The reference that I find says that you would make a secretary, but that you should really be an Actor as a maid judging from your successful portrayal in the school plays.

Hunter Garmon, your question is if you will ever become an aviator. Indeed you will not, if you keep letting the beautiful blonds distract you from your work, for an aviator must have a steady mind, eyes, and hands. But you have the spirit of daring that is required.

Corless Comer, your problem is whether you will become a beauty operator. You might start your beauty course, but I believe you will end by being a house-wife.

Matthew Ore, you asked me if you would always drive a truck that makes as much noise as your school bus? No, Matthew, you will be a 'Number One Salesman' and a heart-breaker to all the girls. No one will be able to resist the articles you sell.

David Rakestraw, you told me that you wanted to be a patrolman. Well, David, from what the almanac says you will be a patrolman in a large city like New York. So be sure to catch all the people like John Dillinger.

Rebecca Gunn has asked if she would ever become a nurse. With the success that you have had with the Journal, I am inclined to believe that you would make a successful editor of some magazine.

Claude Patterson, you said to be sure and tell you tonight, whether or not you would ever marry a cute blue-eyed girl. Well, Claude, it seems hopeless. The Almanac says that you are going to be a Philadelphia lawyer.

Nathan Duke, where are you? Your question was, would you ever become a business man. Nathan, you have been very energetic and industrious as the manager of the senior store. I am inclined to believe that you will be a successful business man.

Iris Smith you wanted to know if you would become a well known violinist yes, Iris and you will also be a big society lady, so be sure to use those big words until your hearts content.

Harry Smith you wished to know if you would ever become a famous baseball player? Yes, Harry, but you can not play ball and watch all the pretty girls that attend the game too!

Robert Lamb your desire was to know whether or not you would be an aviator? Well Robert the reference that I find and especially few of the girls seem to think that you would make a good substitute for Robert Taylor.

John Hunsucker was very enthusiastic when he ask me if he was going to be a business man. Well, John I don't see how you possibly can when you nearly go crazy if you can't see a certain girl every night.

Russell Rakestraw you said you would like to know if you were always going to be a woman hater? Russell I guess this will lift a ton from your shoulders the Almanac says that you will marry a very cute blonde.

Naomia Webb your question was would you ever master French. Yes, you will but don't tell the teacher that I gave you this hint. I also find you are going to be a trained nurse too.

Rebecca Gunn.
